OPL embraces such differences and endeavours to reflect diversity among its staff and volunteers and throughout all collections, programs, communications, staffing practices, training, and services.

With this policy, OPL makes the following commitments:

- To build an inclusive environment throughout internal, external, and virtual spaces where everyone feels a sense of belonging and is treated with respect, dignity and freedom from discrimination.
- To eliminate systemic discrimination and barriers in both internal practices and external services in order to ensure equitable access to the library by all.
- To apply a community-based approach to service by recognizing the diversity of individuals and our communities and maintaining an awareness of community assets and gaps.
- To include diverse voices and viewpoints in service development.
- To apply the Oakville Inclusion Lens when introducing new services and evaluating existing ones.
- To integrate best practices and actions that actively challenge and break down systemic oppression and barriers within our services and internal practices.
- To make inclusion a priority in planning and decision making for staffing, training, and organizational change.

CFLA Position Statement on Diversity and Inclusion

OPL endorses the CFLA Position Statement on Diversity and Inclusion.

Definitions:

Diversity is about the variety of unique dimensions, qualities and characteristics we all possess. (Source: Canadian Centre of Diversity and Inclusion)

Inclusion is about creating a culture that strives for equity and embraces, respects, accepts and values difference. (Source: Canadian Centre of Diversity and Inclusion)

Oppression is more than the prejudicial thoughts and actions of individuals, oppression is institutionalized power that is historically formed and perpetuated over time. Through the use of that institutionalized power, it allows certain groups of people or certain identities to assume a dominant (privileged) position over other groups and identities and this dominance is maintained and continued at institutional and cultural levels.
